

Announcement of Winner for 2024 Paul Marinos Distinguished World Lecture Tour

All members of IAEG community,

I am very pleased to announce that the winner for 2024 Paul Marinos Distinguished World Lecture Tour is Professor Xuanmei Fan, nominated by the Chinese National Group and Women in Engineering Geology Committee. This decision is made by the appointed Jury of Paul Marinos Distinguished World Lecture Tour. The Jury organized comprehensive evaluations on the five candidates and finally decided to award the 2024 Paul Marinos Distinguished World Lectureship to Professor Xuanmei Fan. This lectureship provides the opportunity for an Engineering Geologist of outstanding merit who, through research or practice, has contributed to the advancement of Engineering Geology and Environment, to present a series of lectures about Engineering Geology and Environmental Geology in a two-year period to a diverse audience of professionals, academics and students around the world. Professor Xuanmei Fan will be the ambassador of IAEG these two years via the “Paul Marinos Distinguished World Tour Lecture Series”.

Congratulations to Professor Xuanmei Fan and the Chinese National Group!

Best regards,

President
Vassilis Marinos
